NEW YORK, (July 25, 2018) – Last Thursday, the ETF Industry Exposure & Financial Services ETF \(NYSE Arca: TETF\) was named “Most Innovative ETF - Americas” at the 14th Annual Global ETF Awards in New York.

Winners of these prestigious awards are selected based on total votes received from ETF industry participants worldwide, with one vote allowed per legal entity.

“We’re thrilled to receive this honor, especially since it was voted on by the people who work in the very industry TETF and its underlying index are designed to track,” said Mike Venuto, CIO of Toroso Investments and co-founder of TETF.Index.

TETF recently marked its first anniversary. TETF.Index, which underpins the fund, has returned 32.85% from inception through June 30, 2018. The Financial Select Sector Index seeks to provide an effective representation of the financial sector of the S&P 500 Index, while TETF.Index is more focused in nature.

“When my colleagues and I set out to create the index that underpins TETF, we knew we were building something unique,” added Venuto. “There is exciting work being done to nurture and grow the ETF industry, not only by fund sponsors, but also by index providers, exchanges, custody and liquidity providers and more. We’re very proud to have the fund recognized for the way it has captured all of these participants and allowed investors to add targeted exposure to this vibrant space.”
